

You should have seen Fratzke's face when he didn't find the film and allowed the film to leave the country under his nose! Although we were lucky a tourist broke her leg.