

The high wire way into the power station.

AAAAARGH!

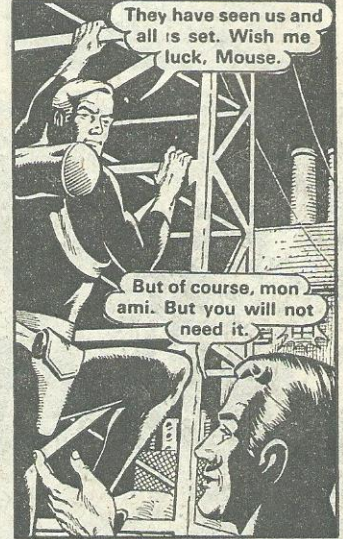

They have escaped! But to where? The only thing of importance round here is the power station at Lenge, which feeds the secret weapons factory. I will wireless the garrison to send men there quickly!

The Germans won't expect us to come from this side. I only hope the French power workers got the message to watch out for us.

Ah, there is the signal, Pierre. Switch off the power.

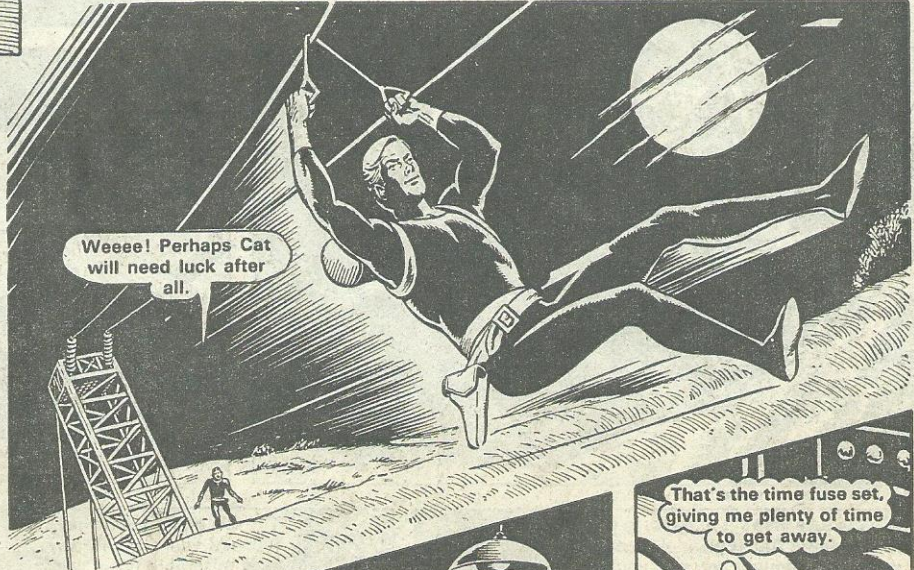

They have seen us and all is set. Wish me luck, Mouse.

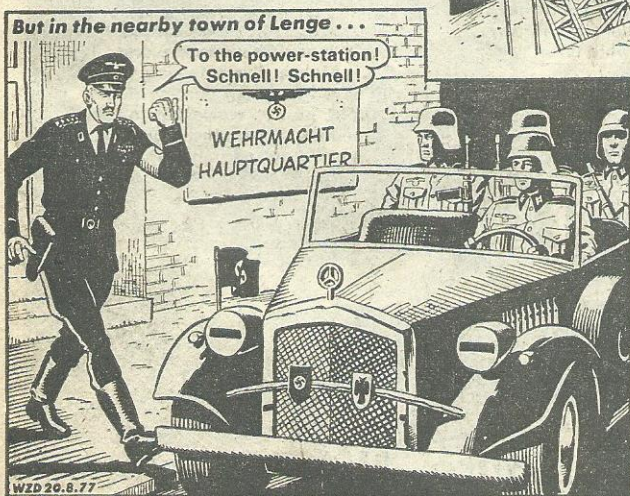

But of course, mon ami. But you will not need it.

No blinding flash! The power really is switched off.

Weeee! Perhaps Cat will need luck after all.

But in the nearby town of Lenge...

To the power-station! Schnell! Schnell!

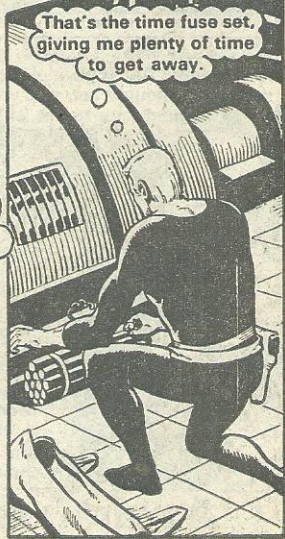

WEHRMACHT HAUPTQUARTIER

Meanwhile in the power station—

Thanks for your help. Now you had better get out of this fast. Tell the Germans we threatened to kill you. This high-explosive device will go off in an hour.

Oui! Oui! We go (fast!)

That's the time fuse set, giving me plenty of time to get away.