

Hunted by Krell and his killer dogs.

I want information friend. Who is this special guest that Lennox expects? What is the purpose of the visit?

Urrr! Don't kill me! I'll tell you!

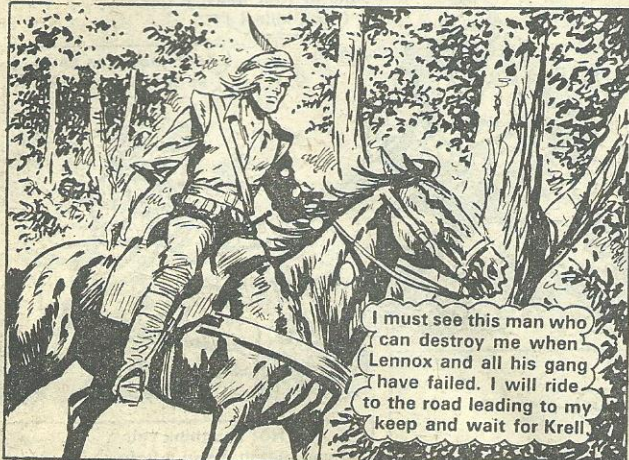

Lennox has sent for a man called Krell, an old crony of his. I do not know this Krell, but Lennox says he will settle your fate once and for all, Calvert!

So? A very special guest, it seems.

Help! Help!

Keep shouting! Your friends will find you eventually. Meanwhile I have business to attend to.

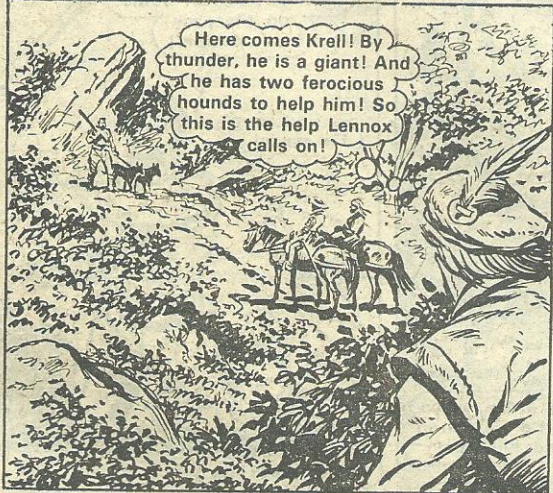

I must see this man who can destroy me when Lennox and all his gang have failed. I will ride to the road leading to my keep and wait for Krell.

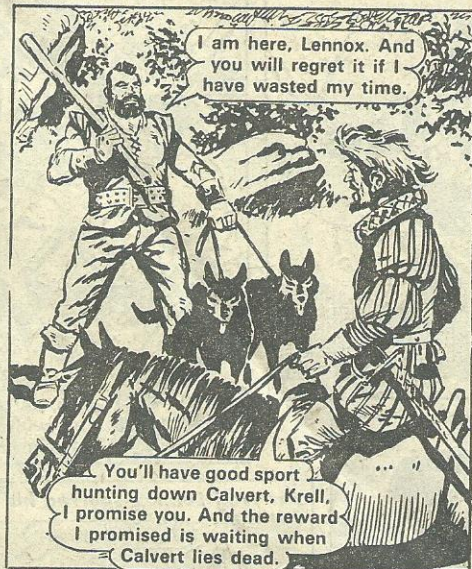

Later—

Lennox and some of his men ride to meet their guest. I am just in time.

Here comes Krell! By thunder, he is a giant! And he has two ferocious hounds to help him! So this is the help Lennox calls on!

I am here, Lennox. And you will regret it if I have wasted my time.

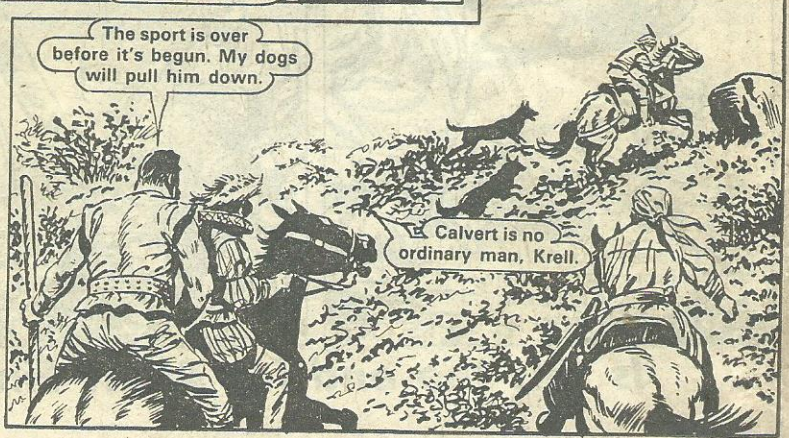

You'll have good sport hunting down Calvert, Krell, I promise you. And the reward I promised is waiting when Calvert lies dead.

My dogs pick up a scent already. Away you go, my beauties!

Those brutes will tear me apart! I must get back to my horse.

The sport is over before it's begun. My dogs will pull him down.

Calvert is no ordinary man, Krell.
