38. REMEMBER, REMEMBER, THE FIFTH OF NOVEMBER... BY BANFF

‘Remember, remember! The fifth of November, the gunpowder treason and plot.’ So goes the first line of the old English folk verse, circa 1870. (There are other different versions of the complete verse). The arrest of Guy Fawkes on 05th November, 1605 prevented his and his co-conspirators plot to blow up the English Houses of Parliament and kill the King James I. All of the conspirators were caught and killed. (Except for Francis Tresham who died in prison through sickness). The Gunpowder Plot is celebrated each year in England on the 05th November, with a guy, (that is an effigy of Guy Fawkes) being burned on top of a bonfire and fireworks.

But this 05th November, there will be fireworks of a different kind...

At this moment in time...

Calderbank!
Our train's at four.

You're cutting it fine old chap.

Yorkton station concourse.

Really, Charteris, we've bags of time.

St. Simon's Way Park, Yorkton, where two youngsters are asking passerby's for a penny for their homemade guy. But Bully Boy & one of his Teddy Boys have other ideas.

Oops! Clumsy me. Heh, heh.

Come on or we'll miss the train.

Thanks. I'll take this money.

Yorkton station platform 3, where Albert Copperwaite, is getting ready to work the 16:00 train to Roughston.

Yorkton station concourse, where two old friends are meeting.

Foxy!
You're looking splendid.

As do you Molly Wilberfoss.

I just hope I can hold my nerve this evening.

Our train's on platform 3.

Vacuum brakes tested, done. Tail lamp lit, done.
